

International Class

‘Education and Social Work in a metropolitan context’

5th edition of this English exchange programme at AP’s department of Health & Social Welfare.

It is with great pleasure that we can announce our International Class ‘Education and Social Work in a metropolitan context’, an English and interdisciplinary exchange programme for both social work, social care work and teacher training students that will be organized for the fifth time in the autumn semester 2019-2020.

Our 30 ECTS programme ‘Education and Social Work in a metropolitan context’ is designed for social work and social care work students with a diverse background as well as for teacher training students.

The focus is on interdisciplinary cooperation and the search for sustainable answers for new emerging social problems and challenges on the cross over between social work and education. Participants get involved in creative and innovative methods and in interdisciplinary project work, core skills for future professionals in an urban context.

All information on our International Class ‘Education in a metropolitan context’ can be found on <https://www.ap.be/es-mc/1073>

The application deadline for incoming students for the autumn semester 2019-2020 is 1st May 2019.

You can find the application procedure and documents on our website <https://www.ap.be/en/international/how-apply> .

Important: number of places is limited to 24 students.
A selection will be done after the deadline and students will be advised within 2 weeks of their acceptance/refusal.

Michel Tirions

International Relations AP-Social Work michel.tirions@ap.be